Assessment contributors (other faculty involved in this program’s assessment): The following faculty in Teacher Education participated in eportfolio assessment: Massey, Pettit, Piazza, and Piquette; complete program data were reviewed at the fall and spring department convocation meetings.

Please complete this form for each undergraduate, minor, certificate, and graduate program (e.g., B.A., B.S., M.S.) in your department. Please copy any addenda (e.g., rubrics) and paste them in this document, and submit it to the dean of your college/school as per the deadline established. The dean will forward it to me as an email attachment before June 2, 2015. You’ll also find the form at the assessment website at <http://www.colostate-pueblo.edu/Assessment/ResultsAndReports/Pages/default.aspx>.

Please describe the 2014-2015 assessment activities for the program in Part I. Use Column H to describe improvements planned for 2015-2016 based on the assessment process. In Part II, please describe activities engaged in during 2014-2015 designed to close-the-loop (improve the program) based on assessment activities and the information gathered in 2013-2014. Thank you.

Comments: The program has identified 8 goal areas that summarize the SLOs for all teacher education candidates. Within each of these goal areas are 5-10 more program standards, aligned with the Colorado Performance Standards, as well as the standards of professional and learned societies, and performance on the standards is the crucial level of assessment in terms of student outcomes, not program goals. Teacher Education has developed rubrics (available at <http://ceeps.colostate-pueblo.edu/TEP/StandardsAndGoals/Pages/default.aspx>) that outline in considerable detail the specific criteria and dimensions of performance that define outcomes required for each standard. Also included on the rubrics are benchmarks for performance at three different points in the program – admission to education, admission to student teaching, and program completion. Ratings based on this evidence are completed by faculty using a scale of 1-4, with a rating of 3.00 an indication of “proficient” on a standard. Formal evaluations are conducted and recorded for each student at admission to education and program completion based on multiple types and sources of evidence.

However, when disaggregating performance, some standards were among the highest rated and some the lowest. Overall, students received relatively low ratings for their performance on standards 2.2, 2.6 and 2.11 (for K-12 teachers 2.2 and 2.6 were the lowest rated standards, with mean ratings of 3.25 and 3.24). Student teachers in 7-12 classrooms also scored lower on these standards (mean ratings of 3.39 and 3.41). Elementary teachers scored the lowest for all program standards on standard 2.11 (3.50). Performance on 2.11 was also a weakness for K-12 teachers (mean 3.48). However, performance on standard 2.5 was a strength for elementary and secondary teachers. |

Additionally, for students with low ratings on this goal, some were admitted with reservations, requiring a formal support plan to address the issues. At program completion: Mean ratings of student teachers ranged from 3.51 (7-12) to 3.68 (K-12) for Goal 5 (Elementary students averaged 3.65). Across all standards for Goal 5, standards 5.8, 5.9 and 5.10 were weaknesses for students in each group. Although 3 students (3%) received ratings &lt;3.00 in one or more standards in this area, the low ratings were across different standards and majors (no pattern). Both Elementary and Secondary student teachers received stronger scores for their performance on standard 5.3 than for other standards (means of 3.7 and 3.57). |

Among all students, 95% received a rating of 2.00 or higher on goal 8. At program completion: Mean ratings of student teachers on Goal 8 were the highest for any goal area as well, ranging from 3.72 (Secondary) to 3.85 (Elementary). | Standards in goal 5 and goal 2 (see above)   | 2014-2015                           | 1. Improve clinical experiences, including requirements and quality of classroom experiences, for additional methods courses, emphasizing the secondary/K-12 special methods and RDG 435. | Yes, mostly. All field experience guidelines and policies were updated, made uniform across outlets, and further developed to strengthen identified weaknesses. For example, the program formally adopted a policy limiting the number of hours students can complete in the field for a given semester. Additionally, major changes have occurred in ED 301/560 and in ED 380/580. In ED 301/560, students had a much more focused set of tasks that had to be completed as part of the field work. In ED 380/580, students were paired with content experts in art, music, and PE to help host an actual after school program for students in district 70. One thing that still needs to be done is to work more closely with special methods course instructors to ensure that unit development is happening well. | The number of issues with quality field placements for students dropped drastically as a result of our work to clarify field work guidelines. Having the Associate Dean visit each class was an added benefit. It helped emphasize the importance of getting as much out of the experience as possible. The after school program for District 70 started a little rocky because it was new, but ended up being highly successful. The students and parents were thrilled with the quality and content. This also mirrored an increase in the quality of lessons (and the corresponding ratings) for students in these classes. Next year, the TEP hopes to further unify the way that all special methods courses handle unit development. |

| Standards 2.6, 2.7, 2.8, 2.11 | 2014-2015 | 2. Continue to review and improve clinical and instructional content for ED 417.                                    | Partially. The field experience component was strengthened as described above, but unfortunately, the instructor for this course, Dr. Jenny Piazza, was on medical leave for much of the fall semester and so little progress was made on revisions. Additionally, in the spring, neither the new Interim Associate Dean nor Dr. Piazza was aware of this as an action item. This will be implemented in 2015-2016. | Because Dr. Piazza will not have a chance to do revisions to her course until Fall 2015, we will monitor the change in proficiency in math as the new requirements are implemented. |
| All standards                 | 2014-2015 | 3. Conduct reliability training among supervisors of student teachers to strengthen reliability of assessment data. | Partially. The number of people who supervise student teachers in a given year is actually quite large (~20). Getting them together at the same time for training is difficult. Some sub-groups were convened to start on this, but it needs to be done more comprehensively to have the desired effect.  | This goal will continue to be addressed. We have implemented a new fall and spring convocation week meeting that should help facilitate these kinds of trainings.                   |
